

WP LAMINATING

A new brand is here for the most modern laminating technology worldwide!

Werner & Pfleiderer starts cooperation with Rinc Europe and so combines maximum know how and biggest market presentation in the field of laminating solutions

Tamm Juni 2009 – Almost 500 years of joint knowledge in bakery technology comes together with the expert in laminating and dough processing technology.

WP & Rinc Europe have validated their cooperation and will capture future international potency under the name of WP LAMINATING.

But first and foremost it is the combination of benefits for the customers and just that was the reason the specialist for the most sophisticated laminating technology got together with WP, the worldwide biggest company group for artisanal- and industrial bakery technology

Behind the name of Rinc Europe is the Rijkaart family, founders of automatic laminating since 1962 and because of this, synonym to this type of production. Today Rinc Europe is managed by the third generation Rijkaart, supplier of the most modern laminating systems. WP also has many years of experience in dough processing and especially in the field of joining several bakery processes to an entirely integrated system.

Process- and technological know how, capacity and market representation come together and are able to develop unique laminating concepts and production solutions for bread, confectionery- and pastry products, to design and translate this to economical optimal conditions for the customers.

The portfolio now is extensive: from fully automatic bread lines through laminating lines for a multitude of puff pastry and yeast dough products, to cake-, pizza-, croissant-, pie-, filo- and muffin lines.

An advantageous constellation for the customers worldwide, as a complete range of experts from all fields are at their disposal.

From master baker to project engineer, WP LAMINATING guarantees its customers a perfect order processing and sustained support from one source.
